Tena koe,

While fishing is a critical industry, there aren't enough people in New Zealand who can do that work. Only 35% of Sealords Crews self-identify as being Maori.

I am pleased to announce that Ngāti Tūwharetoa Fisheries Charitable Trust is piloting a new project in 2021 called Ka hao te rangatahi: Ngāti Tūwharetoa Rangatahi Trip to Nelson.

We want to show rangatahi what success looks like and provide exposure around various options in the fishing industry. Ngāti Tūwharetoa Fisheries will select 10 rangatahi from our local high schools and universities and fly them to Nelson to visit Sealord's flagship the Tokatu and Aotearoa's premiere aquaculture and science facilities.

First we would like to thank our sponsors who each contributed a third of the costs of the project, with the balance being met by the trust.

Next, I would like to thank the organisations who are taking time out to show our rangatahi what they do and how they could have a career working for them.

Finally, I would like to thank the hau kainaga for accommodating our Rangatahi in Nelson.

No reira tēna koutou, tēna tatou katoa
